Art Unit: 3751

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kirsch in view of Bullock and the state of the cushion art as set forth in the instant disclosure at page 11, lines 2-5.

Kirsch teaches a cushion used on a shampoo neck receiving bowl which employs a pocket of polymer gel (col 2, lines 14-15). As seen in Fig. 3 the shape of claim 1, lines 7-14 is met.

Bullock teaches the use of a cushion having seams 46, employs gel or air (paragraph 22) in it's pockets and as seen in Fig 2 is employed over the edge of basin secured by suction cups 24. On view of this taught use it would have been obvious to provide for the former to employ seams as taught by the latter and in view of the instant disclosure at page 11, lines 2-5, to provide for these seams to be in the form of a matrix.

Re: claim 5, to employ suction cups on Kirsch as taught by Bullock at 24 would as well have been obvious to the ordinary artisan.
